1. When you highlight a topic it will always be at the top of the screen for your students - they won't get lost. If they do get lost they can always click on the course title and return to the highlighted, current topic, even from their Activities (like the H5Ps). Make sure your students complete all slides in an H5P though and go to the summary slide.

The screenshot shows the My AMES course interface. At the top, the course title "NEW EAL1 Master T3/B3 2019" is highlighted with a callout: "If students get lost, clicking on the course title will always bring students back to the current topic." Below this, the "Skill Builder" section is highlighted with a callout: "The current topic will always be at the top of the screen when students log in." The left sidebar shows a "CONTENTS" menu with "Skill Builder" selected, highlighted with a callout: "This is the current topic highlighted." The main content area shows a list of activities: "Around the house (15 min)", "1. Read about the Khan family (5 min)", "2. Job advertisement (15 min)", and "3. Questions about the job advertisement (10 min)".

The screenshot shows the My AMES course interface with a callout pointing to the course title: "NEW EAL1 Master T3/B3 2019". Below this, the "Job advertisement (15 min) DONE" activity is shown. The activity content is a job advertisement titled "COOKS WANTED". The advertisement text is: "Part-time up to 25 hours per week. Casual work - $29.50 per hour. A restaurant in Brunswick is looking for a casual cook to join our team. We are looking for an experienced, enthusiastic and reliable cook to work the afternoon shift. Successful trial period will result in full-time ongoing position. To be considered for this role you should: less than 38 hours per week. per week. not guaranteed the same you don't get paid sick / annual v long the job will last. t have an end date, you keep".

2. Students can still see when an Activity needs to be completed with the exclamation mark and when it has been completed with a tick. Students can also see their progress in the menu (how many Activities they've completed from the total number of Activities).

3. Some students like to navigate between Activities from the bottom of the screen. They can still do that, but now the "Go to" box has been deleted so students won't get lost by going somewhere else in the course altogether.
